

The Gospel According To . . .

The Miracle is in Your Mouth

Upon writing something for the website, I wrestled with what is relevant versus what is popular. Before writing, I checked in with a first cousin, who was afraid that she might have breast cancer. I did not say hello or how are you doing, instead I texted “What is the report of the Lord?” Her response, “NO CANCER!” Which brings me to say to all those reading this, the MIRACLE IS IN YOUR MOUTH!

For those who know their Bibles and do have a real relationship with God, I know and they know that He still performs miracles today. The Bible says, “Thank the miracle-working God, His love never quits” (Psalm 136:4, MSG). Why, then, do some doubt that God stopped performing miracles when the Book of Revelation was completed? Moreover, some think that miracles are a close parking space at the mall or a two-for-one meal at Popeye’s! God forbid. The truth is, I am tired of church people and their small thinking. I am also tired of being around religious people who even say that miracles are not relevant today. The truth is, God still performs miracles today. For example, the fact that God allows us to wake up each day is a miracle. The fact that we have less than $1.00 in the bank, and unable to pay for gas or electric, and the utilities are still on - that is a miracle. The fact that an earthquake did not take you or a family member out, that is a miracle. I could go on, but you get my point.

Church leaders and pastors have to be in a position to also believe that miracles are still being performed today, otherwise their preaching is just entertainment. Not only should the miracles be in the mouths of church leaders, but prayer needs to back it up. Furthermore, fruit should be seen on a daily and weekly basis in the body of Christ to reflect the miracle workings of God. If this happens, then a breakout of miracles will be occurring all over Christendom. Sick bodies will be healed. And, the recipients of the miracles will want to share their testimonies. If you still need convincing, look up toward heaven and ask the Lord to give you a miracle. Therefore, the miracle will be in your mouth.
